Post Consulting Needs for CTE Data Unlocked through a Linked In Group

Is your college in need of a consultant to carry out training, code clean-up, or a data integration project for CTE Data Unlocked, in addition to the ten hours of free support that you will get from the Expert that has been assigned to your college?

A LinkedIn Group, “Technical Assistance for CTE Data Unlocked,” has been created so that California community colleges can post requests for additional consulting support. This unvetted clearinghouse creates a marketplace where colleges can connect with possible consultants.

If you work at a community college: Use the LinkedIn group to post projects for consultants and discuss common CTE data integration needs.

If you’re interested in working as a consultant: View available jobs and reach out to community college contacts for more information.

Here’s how to get started:
